And yet again you are even considering more development in Warriewood....there are too many people already here, Warriewood houses are far too close to each other, and the loony boring looking houses are only saved when the trees grow enough to hide them. Where are the parks, the little café on the site is unique and I have no doubt whatsoever that the architects will stuff things up....an example is the brainless "box" café on the other side of the roundabout. In fact if you look you will note the majority of houses built in Warriewood consist of only squares and oblongs....awful.....stop this needless and pointless building, we have had enough,
