Dear assessor,

The way I read it is orders were to be taken inside and picked up at the window outside. This didn't ever happen to my knowledge (nor was the servery closed when footpath congested) Wouldn't it be the best way to operate ESPECIALLY in these times? Plenty of cafes do this. We're all used to COVID protocols. It spreads clientele.

If new stickers were to be placed on the footpath however, Several would need to be spaced along the walls in each direction with signs saying which side to order and pick up from. This will probably not stop the congestion as family, friends, dogs, and bikes will still wait elsewhere on the path meaning pedestrians have to thread the needle at busy times. This obviously isn't covidsafe.
