To the assessment officer:

The application by Optus to build a mobile phone tower is unacceptable. This is a parkland used by numerous people, specifically children for health and fitness, going completely against what a mobile tower will bring to the area. Rather than encouraging this use of the land, an addition of a mobile tower is reckless and dangerous in any residential area. Approving the application shows a complete lack of acknowledgement of your ratepayers wishes and endangering the health of children and the animal species that inhabit this area.

Luke and Christine Falzon
