Subject: Mod2019/0547 i Health Hazard

The local community come to Mona Vale Market to buy fresh food much of which is perishable and needs refrigeration.

It is a health hazard to not have an early start for an outdoor market in summer.

People have cars parked in full sun and because of late start are not only forced to walk around in the heat but have to put produce in cars which in summer after 2 hours parking will be boiling hot.

Pod Cuisine has a long association with markets which open at 7 or 7.30. Many of the people who shop early are elderly and having to shop later in the heat is stressful for them.

Your Sincerely

Clara Mason
