I strongly object to a Hard Rock Cafe in Manly. At its core Manly is a beautiful seaside village with natural attractions. Hard Rock Cafe with its large neon guitar significantly detracts from that natural beauty. Manly's safety and enjoyment for locals and tourists has been managed over the last decade with the community, the pub, council and police having put in a big effort in relation to alcohol fuelled brawls late at night. We do not need another pub in Manly and certainly not open until 3 am. Large numbers of partygoers making their way out of the venue in the early hours is not fair to the residents. Manly is a small cbd with residential developments throughout. Hard Rock Cafe would be better suited to an area not in the middle of residential apartments. Brookvale is an example where other entertainment venues are popular or another industrial site without residents trying to sleep during the night.
