Reason for application and outline of proposed work

My wife and I are requesting approval to have a tree removed for safety reasons.

There is a Turpentine tree located at the front of our house. It's base is 3.5m from the front of the house. Over several years it has developed a substantial lean towards the house with the upper branches reaching over the roofline.

The base of the tree is situated on top of, and in close proximity, to a stone retaining wall about 1 metre high. The tree has now grown to a size where it is beginning to crack the retaining wall. This cracking increased after a recent storm of high winds. The top of the tree now catches the wind over the roof line.
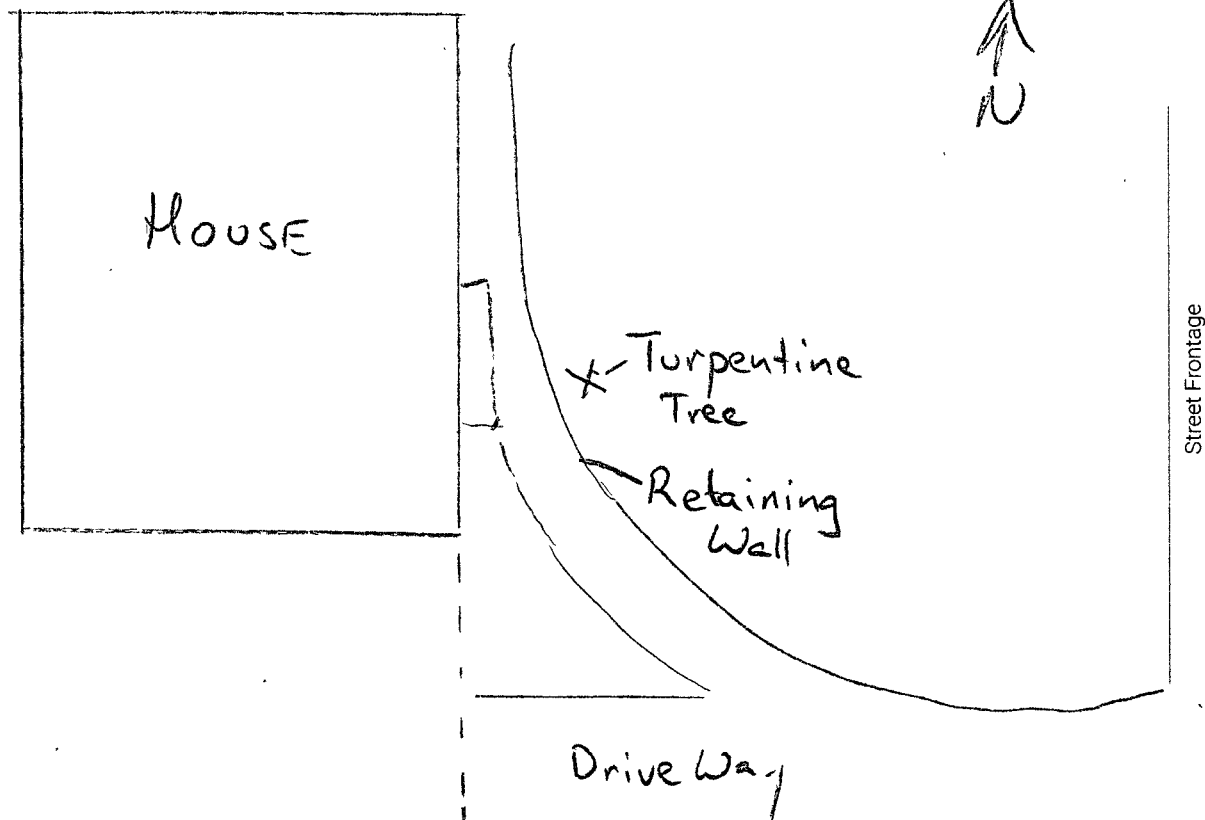

The base of the tree, at ground level, has a section of rot visible. It is not known how far below the ground level the rot continues.

Our daughter's bedroom is situated on the top floor of the house in direct line with the direction the tree would fall. We are concerned that as the tree increases in size it will lean progressively further and more dangerously. As the tree becomes larger it will further damage the retaining wall, reducing the trees stability.

We have another five Turpentine trees on our property. We are happy to plant more in a suitable position to replace this tree.

Thank you.
