RE: DA2018/1289 - 1154 Pittwater Road COLLAROY NSW 2097

I had understood the front boundry was high water mark, this seems to take the properties beyond this to a notional boundry on the beach. Will this result in the beach becoming unwalkabout at high tide (without storm surge)?

It is unclear to me from the material if this is the case, ie that the construction of the wall will not result in scouring of the beach. I would object if the result is that there is not clear assurance that their will remain a walkable beach.

If this can be established that the wall will not result in the loss of the ability to walk along the beach at a normal high tide. I am supporting of the protection works.
