Hello Northern Beaches Council.....

Amazing that you would be dealing with this mob - The organic food market - pray tell do they have ANY real farmers in their market stable? A lot of resellers - any of it really Certified Organic??

As far as I can see they are the "pioneers" of on-selling expensive organic food totally devoid of farmers selling it direct to the public.... and they are an example of what food markets in Sydney have become....pseudo farmers markets dealing more in wool than farmers or food .....wool?..... yes pulling the wool over people's eyes (and few Council's it has been alleged)

Don't be surprised if you receive multiple positive submissions for their move to Pittwater RSL..... they are known for this type of bluster.

Good luck with The (pretend) Organic Food Market.
