Officer comments

The site contains significant rock outcrops with some adjacent to the proposed secondary dwelling. The current design has resulted in a layout that enables retention and protection of the main outcrops. It is noted that several trees will be required to be removed to accommodate the dwelling, however in this instance removal is not objected to due to the retention of the rock. Conditions have been included requiring replanting of trees to assist in replacing the canopy removed in the long term.

No objections are raised to approval subject to conditions as recommended.
