RE: DA2017/1274 - 52 Cabbage Tree Road BAYVIEW NSW 2104

There is no excuse for destroying habitats with developments. You have many choices as to where structures can be erected but once a species is destroyed, that is final. We have had too many extinctions and way too many species severely endangered due to callous disregard for lives other than human. You need to work in with environmental considerations when planning developments. We are supposed to be sharing the planet, not plundering and destroying.

I am already sickened and my life destroyed knowing about the torture and absolute barbarianism waged against non-human animals all over the world using culture and research as an excuse, not to mention the very avoidable intense cruelty of our meat, dairy, cosmetic and pharmaceutical industries.

Obviously it's more work and time for you to reconsider the location of your proposal, but, in comparison to the rest of the war being waged against innocent non-human life, avoiding this type of destruction is a relatively easy fix.

So much more suffering will occur before any of the above comes to an end as too many people have a glacier in place of a heart.

Please show you have a heart.

Anita
